

HOME IMPROVEMENT Contract Law

Keeping the Attorney General Away From Your Door

Avoiding problems under General Business Law Article 36-A Home Improvement Contracts

No industry professional will ever intentionally put themselves in a position of wrongdoing when it comes to the law, but remember that ignorance is no excuse.

Home Improvement Contract Law can get complicated. Be sure you understand it fully Presenter: Lucien Morin, II, partner, McConville, Considine, Cooman & Morin, P.C.

Mr. Morin has represented contractors, suppliers, and home builders in the Rochester area for over 40 years. He is also an active member of the Interim Panel of Chapter 7 Trustees for the Western District of New York. He has lectured for the Monroe County Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, Greater Rochester Association of Realtors and the National Business Institute on various real estate and bankruptcy related matters.

In this session we will discuss these topics:

- What does the law state?
- To whom does it apply?
- Are there any exclusions?
- What are the enforcement powers of the New York Attorney General?
- Interplay with Section 771-a (Responsibilities of home improvement contractors)

This law applies to remodelers, contractors and custom home builders. It is a must attend for those in the industry.
